THE FORCE OF HABIT

is well illustrated in the continued purchase of War Savings and Thrift Stamps from the Hopedale Post Office. The following from the Milford Daily News may be of interest:

HOPEDALE HEAD TOWN OF MASSACHUSETTS IN STAMP SALES

The latest reports on the sale of Thrift and War Savings Stamps in Massachusetts show that Hopedale leads all other cities and towns of the Bay State in total sales of these stamps to date. Hopedale has a per capita sale of $4.94.

This report, which was received by Mrs. C. R. Burlingame, director of the statistical bureau, Savings Division, First Federal Reserve District, shows that the towns of Massachusetts are far ahead of the cities in the per capita sales of Thrift and War Savings Stamps. Not one city is represented in the ten leaders for per capita sales.

The five towns next to Hopedale in total per capita sales are Gosnold, Bedford, Millis, Hawley and Scituate, respectively.

Up to the limit accepted by the Government, War Savings Stamps are the best investment on the market.
